F.D.R. CALLS FOR UNITY AGAINST FOREIGN POISON

President Sounds Warning Against Trojan Horse Treachery

REVIEWS NATIONAL DEFENSE PROGRAM

Calls On Nation to Support Red Cross Relief Drive

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, May 27.—In a solemn appeal for national unity, President Roosevelt coupled a pledge of military security last night with a warning against Trojan horse treachery and the "undiluted poison" of foreign-sponsored dissension.

Calling for an end to fear, illusion and calamity howling, the chief executive said in his 14th radio "fireside chat" that American defense forces would be built up "whatever heights the future may require."

Denies Critics' Charges He denied charges of critics that money spent for the army and navy in the last few years had "come down the rat-hole" instead, he said.

"This money has been used to make our army and navy today the largest, the best equipped, and the best trained peacetime military establishment in the history of this country."

After declaring that nothing in the present emergency justified breakdown or cancellation of "any of the great social gains" under the New Deal, Mr. Roosevelt asserted that "today's threat to our national security is not a matter of military weapons alone."

"We must deal vigorously," he said, with "spies, saboteurs and traitors." The new technique of weakening a nation at its roots, he continued, is discord aimed at creating "confusion of counsel, public indecision, political paralysis and, eventually a state of panic."

"Campaigns of group hatred or class struggle have never made much headway among us, and are not making headway now," he said. But new forces are being unleashed, deliberately planned propaganda to divide and weaken us in the face of danger as other nations have been weakened before.

"Undiluted Poison" "These dividing forces are undiluted poison. They must not be allowed to spread in the new world as they have in the old."

The President said that "the shattering of many illusions" for persons who had "closed their eyes" to events abroad or "who would not admit the possibility of the approaching storm."

"They have lost the illusion," he declared, "that we are remote and

TRUCK CRASHES TRAIN; ONE HURT

East Palestine Man, Driver, In City Hospital Here

Wilbur Welsh, 20, of R. D. 2, East Palestine, suffered a back injury and body bruises when his tractor-trailer loaded with 10 tons of coal, crashed into a Pennsylvania passenger train at a crossing just east of Berlin Center on Route 224 at 7:30 a. m. Sunday.

Welsh's condition at Salem City hospital today is reported as good.

The youth told State Patrolman C. W. Cale he failed to see the flasher signals operating because the sun was shining in his eyes. The truck was reported to have skidded 260 feet before hitting the third coach back of the engine.

Motor Torn Out

The impact practically tore the motor out of the truck and demolished the steps and damaged one wheel of the coach. The train, which was traveling northeast from Alliance, was able to proceed. C. L. Carner of Alliance was the engineer in charge.

Welsh was hauling coal from near East Palestine to Akron.

Stephen Dunn of Youngstown was arrested by Marshal Barney Miller of Columbiana on a charge of reckless driving after Dunn's car skidded and crashed through a guard rail on Route 164 at the western edge of Columbiana at 12:05 a. m. Sunday, the state patrol reported.

Taken before Mayor Arthur Myers at Columbiana, Dunn, who was unhurt, was fined $10 and costs.

Automobiles operated by Samuel Jackson, 26, of Washingtonville, Charles Priestler, 24, of 488 S. Union ave., and John W. Hanna, 36, of R. D. 4, Salem, figured in a minor collision on Route 14, just east of Salem, at 5:40 p. m. Sunday, according to the patrol. None was injured.

FLANDERS NOT FINISHED YET, SAYS M'KENZIE

Allies, Holding Well, Facing New Nazi Offensive Today

BIG TASK AHEAD FOR GEN. WEYGAND

Purges Generals; Britain Also Has New Chief Of Staff

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE The Allies have held well in general over a week-end of bloody fighting which has seen the use of cold steel once more in hand-to-hand combat as a variation for the warfare between mechanical monsters.

On the whole the defenders have exemplified the British tommy's favorite saying that "it's dogged as does it."

This morning, however, they were faced with a new threat in a fierce German assault in the Menin sector of Belgium, not far from the battle of Ypres. The Nazi drive, which is an effort to complete encirclement of the Allied armies in Flanders, compelled the defenders to fall back to prepared positions.

Not Finished Yet

With this attack in process of development, the best we can say in way of summary is that while the Germans still have the upper hand, the battle of Flanders has not been won or lost as yet.

This waiting to see what is going to happen is like being outside the door of the operating room of a hospital. These standing by must bear the suspense and above all things not jump to conclusions, for not even the surgeons can guess the outcome of this very terrible operation until their work has proceeded further.

The uncertainty is deepened by the operations of the "fifth columns" which are being ferreted out daily in all the Allied countries.

The task thrust upon Allied generalissimo, Weygand, is perhaps as hard as any chief ever had to perform.

The transition from defense to offense is one of the most ticklish of military operations at the best. Weygand not only has to achieve this transformation, realigning forces which have become unmercifully nerve-shocked by new weapons of frightfulness, but he actually would appear to have undertaken to recase his army commanders in another mould.

Wholesale Purge

UNION WINNER IN HIGH COURT

Not Liable for Sit-Down Damages, Ruling by Supreme Court

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, May 27.—The supreme court ruled today that a labor union was not liable under the federal anti-trust laws for damages resulting from a sit-down strike.

The 6 to 3 decision was delivered by Justice Stone.

Chief Justice Hughes wrote a dissenting opinion in which Justices McReynolds and Roberts joined.

Stone asserted that the activities of the labor union involved in the litigation did not sufficiently interfere with interstate commerce to constitute a violation of the Sherman act.

Specifically involved was a suit by the Apex Hosiery company of Philadelphia for damages sustained during a seven-week sit-down strike in 1937 by a local unit of the American Federation of Full Fashioned Hosiery Workers.

"The British front remains intact."

"There has been heavy bombing of the rear areas. Antiaircraft guns and light automatics shot down a number of enemy planes."

Take New Line

PARIS, May 27.—The Allied armies of the north fell back today under mass Nazi attacks rivaling in violence the German World war assaults on Verdun and took their stand on a new line defending the English channel.

Adolf Hitler speeded his campaign to crush the French, British and Belgian forces in Flanders. Into the drive for a quick decision his commanders threw the old infantry and artillery as well as the new dive bombers and armored columns.

The French last night withdrew to new positions in the Valenciennes sector to straighten their lines while the Germans threw men and material against the Allied armies around Menin in Belgium.

The battle continued today, with the Allies reported checking the German offensive on the new front.

The Nazi drive, aimed southward along the Lys river valley, was centered on Menin, 35 miles northwest of Valenciennes, on the French-Belgian frontier.

It appeared that the Germans were attempting to cut the Allied army of the north in two by hammering through their lines to make connections with their forces in northwestern France which the high command yesterday acknowledged had captured the channel port of Boulogne.

Within 18 Miles (In Berlin it was said that the two German forces were within 18 miles of each other.)

If the Germans are successful in making connections they will have succeeded in encircling the Allied troops now fighting between Cambrai and the Belgian border.

The other half of the Allied army of the north will be backed up against the channel.

The French high command said the Allies were standing their ground in the Menin region, in fighting "of extreme violence."

The Germans were reported to be using "every possible weapon" in an attempt to break Allied resistance, but their losses in infantry, tanks and airplanes were described as "enormous."

A war ministry spokesman said the Allied withdrawal in the Valenciennes sector was because the positions there were "too far out in front."

Before retiring, he said, the Allied troops beat two German attacks.

THE BRITISH THRONE

While it might be that King George's loyal subjects stand in greater need of a Churchill speech than the dignified address broadcast to them Friday, it nevertheless served as extremely useful purpose.

The British throne is a symbol of government founded on mutual interest. Its position in the empire for many years has been maintained almost entirely by the tolerance of its subjects—tolerance graced by the tact and dignity of its occupants.

The empire has not been perfect. It has threatened to fall apart in some quarters and has been held together tenuously. Things have been done in the name of the throne which had better not have been done. But on the whole it has been the most enlightened, the most progressive, government in existence. Not one of the governments which now charge it with unworthiness can produce a comparable record of liberal administration, or even a manifestation of equally good purposes.

The measure of their worthiness to attack it is most clearly evident in the method of their attack. They charge that the British empire is evil, but they do not deny that what they seek is its dismemberment in order to set up empires of their own. It is not, in other words, the idea of empire that is abhorrent to them, but the idea of British empire, instead of German or Italian empire.

They can reflect, as many who heard King George's message to his subjects reflected, that the thing they seek to destroy is composed of something vastly stronger than the compulsion they are bringing to the task.

THE STRATEGY IN REVERSE

Even a tyro in military strategy can grasp from maps showing positions of the German and Allied armies how quickly the former's present advantage could be turned into a fatal disadvantage.

An audacious thrust toward the English channel has sprung out the German army through the width of northern France, exposing it to the bulk of the French army in the south and to the "pocketed" British and Belgian army in the north. While the latter remains effectual, the German salient is flanked on both sides of the angle it has driven into France.

Testimony to the present superiority of the German forces is the fact that this obviously dangerous position is construed not as advantageous to the forces in the most advantageous positions, but to the forces which would be placed in imminent peril if they lacked either confidence or ability to avert peril.

At the same time, for the better understanding of the war, it must be noticed that the Allied forces are reported to be reorganizing rapidly, becoming stronger as they rally from the initial shock of the German drive to the coast. Germany's bold attempt to drive a wedge through its opposition may yet become an over-bold risk of its own security.

The fighting at Flanders thus is being called the decisive battle of the war, certainly more important than Germany's seizure of channel ports which can be held only by preservation of the salient driven through northern France. To disregard the potential peril of Germany's position, to ignore the possibility of Germany's strategy working against it in reverse is to miss the only apparent chance of redemption of the Allied cause.

HITLER'S BANDWAGON

The fact needs to be faced squarely that triumph for Germany would give tremendous impetus to the ideological bandwagon decorated with swastikas. Success of "fifth column" efforts in countries which have fallen to Germany cannot be attributed entirely to bribery; many, perhaps most, of the traitors acted from conviction.

Once Hitlerism ceased to be a political and economic experiment inside one country and became an established institution in many countries, there would be a rush to its standards. The bullying Prussianism and hooliganism which carried it to the status of a street fighting mob in Germany to that of a political party and a national ideology are not characteristics confined to any one country.

The same traits have appeared conspicuously in Italy, where a national regime was founded in much the same way; in Russia, where a revolution of the proletariat was converted into dictatorship of the ruthless; in Japan, where the military mind imposed itself on a government and apparently upon a whole population. France and Great Britain have been bedeviled with would-be dictators and shirking armies. The United States has not forgotten the Ku Klux Klan, nor is it unaware of the meaning of bunds, Communist cells, silver-shirtists and so on bubbling in the mass of its population.

The prominent characteristic of all these movements, which are essentially revolutionary in character, is use of violence to ride down opposition. There has been a general suspension of the ethics of Christianity, not alone because some of the groups involved had no sympathy for Christianity but because they had no sympathy for the principles of equality and reason embodied in the Christian concept. It has been a kind of simultaneous outbreak of violence in the hearts of those who are unable to understand the methods of non-violence.

The sneers of those who persist in believing war is nothing but a cynical game of chess played by capitalists and manufacturers with human pawns do not obscure the fact that the present war concerns much more than a tussle for profit and empire. The Nazis in Germany long ago made plain their independence of all factions and interests. By their alliances with Italy and Russia, they and the Italians and Russians proclaimed to the world that their sole ambition was to rule—or ruin. British and French soldiers are dying on the battlefield in the hope of saving a way of life which authoritarianism does not—and cannot—tolerate.

Might cannot make right. If the experience of almost two thousand years of life in the Christian era proves anything it proves that most men have within them something that is repelled by "brutalitarian" rule. The regimes that have fastened themselves on nations with whips, blood baths and purges and have gained converts unable to understand anything higher than animal obedience enforced by punishment will be no more worthy of respect if they succeed in becoming more powerful.

THE STARS SAY:

For Tuesday, May 28

FAIRLY FORTUNATE and active conditions are predicted on the basis of planetary and lunar operations. The mind will be seriously focused on the development and promotion of new ideas, with practical and constructive projects for enlisting the financial support of employers, superiors or those whose friendly cooperation is urgent. These will be found approachable, but do not negative business interest by stressing social angles, which are under adverse configurations. Anxiety and depression should be vanquished.

Those whose birthday it is may be assured of a rather fortunate year, in which their own skill, initiative and enterprise will find hearty support of putting over new and fairly important projects. The mental forces and creative ability may be deeply concentrated on developing very constructive ideas, and the support of those in influence for promotion will be available. But it would be wise to refrain from overdoing the social contact slant, as such is adversely aspected. Refrain from depression, worry and cross-purposes.

A child born on this day may be talented and ambitious, having studious mind and much constructive ability, which should be encouraged by influential persons who will help in its advancement and good fortune.

What Is Napoleon's Disease?

Heart Block Causes Fainting Spells

What is Napoleon's Disease?

I REALIZE that this question requires a little explanation. My correspondent went to a doctor for fainting attacks and he, being in a quizzical mood that day, replied by telling her that she had Napoleon's disease. She goes on by explaining her symptoms which do not include the invasion of Russia, but simply that every once in a while lately—she is 52—she has a very dizzy spell and even at times passes out completely. She also has a slow pulse, which is recorded as one of the physical peculiarities of Napoleon. Na-

Dr. Clendenning will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column pooleon also had such fainting attacks. They have been called epilepsy. It has been a matter of wonder that an epileptic could display such vigorous intellectual capacity as Napoleon. Some epileptics are men of intellect, but it is not the rule. Julius Caesar is another historical character of an epileptic nature. It is a preme intellectual attainments who is said to have had epilepsy. "He hath the falling sickness," as Casca says.

Considering the slow pulse, it is probable that the cryptic doctor meant that Napoleon had heart-block, or Stokes-Adams disease. This is a condition of the heart muscle which constitutes a block of the muscular impulses going over the heart muscle. The block makes the ventricles beat on their own rhythm which is quite slow—as slow as 20 a minute, and consequently every once in a while the brain is entirely deprived of blood so that the sudden fainting attack occurs.

Often the condition passes away and the heart beats normally and the fainting attacks cease.

What are kidney function tests?

THE BEST kidney function tests to determine whether the kidney is capable of performing its functions of excreting waste products, are based on the principle of putting a measured quantity of some substance into the blood stream and measuring how soon it all comes out in the urine. The substances most frequently used are dyes.

Perhaps it would be made more understandable if I reminded you of the properties of asparagus, in its immediate appearance in the urine after you have eaten even a small amount.

A physiological friend of mine carried the asparagus test a little further—and I add this because I think even doctors don't know about it. He wondered whether his blood would smell of asparagus after eating that vegetable, and put it to the test by removing a syringe of blood. He found that the blood did smell strongly of asparagus.

There are other tests of kidney function.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

A. D. R.: "Does inoculation for whooping cough prevent it or does it just make it lighter?"
Answer: In about 80 per cent of all cases, it prevents whooping cough altogether. When the immunization from the serum has not been complete and a child catches whooping cough the case is usually a light one.

E. J. W.: "Is there any danger in the use of sulphur ointment as a relief from scabies or ringworm?"
Answer: Yes. It is liable to bring on severe inflammation of the skin if used too intensively. It should be used for one or two nights for scabies and then stopped for some time. It is not advised for ringworm.

H. T. A.: "Both eggs and pork give me asthma. What fruits or juices are the best to counteract these foods?"

Answer: It has been suggested that fruits at the beginning of a meal may counteract substances in a meal which cause asthma or hives but no exact advice can be given. Each person must experiment for himself. We would be glad to have the experience of readers of this column on this subject. The question is, what fruits do act favorably; how much should be eaten; whether fresh or canned fruits work.

The CAIRO GARTER MURDERS

By VAN DYCK MASON

CHAPTER XXXVI

The chief inspector looked up quickly. "You don't think Melhorne had a hand in the killings?"

"So. That was Hart's assignment with Zara as a willing assistant. Stag can get plenty tough when he wants to, but he's not especially cruel." The speaker hesitated, glanced down at the police on duty below. "My first faint suspicions took shape when, on Philipides' yacht, I watched Hart deliberately pull the legs off a beetle. Later I watched Zara look at a certain mummy in Ladd's collection—the one of the woman who was buried alive. Suppose we try to find out what's happened to Bruce Kilgour?"

North and Clive approached Major Richardson, talking to, of all people, that sardonic individual known as M. Levesseur. The Frenchman advanced a smile on his sallow features.

"Please accept my congratulations, Captain. So skillfully have you played your part I was quite taken in. In fact, it is as well I followed you to Port Said, hein? Our arrival here has not been entirely unfortunate, perhaps?"

In answer to Hugh North's look of surprise, Major Richardson explained that M. Levesseur, far from being a dealer in illegal munitions, was colonel of the Deuxieme Bureau—French Army Intelligence and an amateur Egyptologist of some repute. He had been assigned to follow Follonsbee from Marseilles because Syria was dangerously close to the contagion of insurrection.

"You shadowed me?" North grinned. "Congratulations. I never guessed it—was on the lookout, too. Where'd you get the idea?"

From the station at El-Teffeh. I showed my credentials and Monsieur the Inspector there lends me a car, not very willingly, but he lends it." He turned. "Our friend le docteur Ladd is past help?"

Richardson nodded. "I've done everything I can, but he's shot through the stomach—it's a question of minutes."

"Good lord, man, why didn't you say so?" North wheeled and flung himself onto his knees. "Ladd, listen, you've got to hear me! Is Kilgour still alive?" North demanded in an agony of suspense.

The lips had trouble in forming the word, "Maybe."

"Where is he?"

"At — Hart — Melhorne —"

Even as the man from G-2 bent lower to catch the words, faint as the scraping of a feather over silk, Dr. Ladd drew a slow, shuddering breath which, inescapably, blew out the last spark of his life.

"He's Armstrong all right," Richardson began, pointing to a small suitcase which lay near by. "He was all ready to pay off. That's full of pounds sterling, easily."

"To blazes with that!" North was towering over Hart. He knew his subject and spoke accordingly.

"Where's Kilgour? Speak up, or I'll begin by kicking out your teeth with my heel!"

When sinewy and forbidding, North bent his leg as if to carry out the threat, Hart uttered a shrill squeak.

"Don't hurt me! Don't hurt me, Capt'n. I'll sing," he chattered. "It was Melhorne who took him

PLAN MEMORIAL AT COLUMBIANA

Legion and Other Patriotic Organizations To Hold Services

COLUMBIANA, May 27. — The usual Memorial day parade and ceremony will take place Thursday. The exercises at the cemetery will start at 10:15 a. m. with Rev. Douglas Stewart, pastor of the Nazarene church, as speaker. School children are asked to assemble at the school at 9:45, while members of the Legion, auxiliary, Boy and Girl Scouts and band will meet at the Legion home at 9:30.

The Good Cheer club will meet Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. for a new member and guest night. Roy Es-senwein will lead devotionals and a musical program will be in charge of Harry Heitzel and Charles Es-senwein. A covered dinner will be served at 6:30. The Mary Martha class will meet Friday afternoon, when Mrs. F. H. Doss will present the topic.

The Columbian board of education rejected the high bid of $375 offered Friday afternoon at a public auction for the sale of the building on the former Esterly property, Elm st. The board hopes to sell the house at private sale at a slightly higher figure.

A new house is being erected on Vine st. by Mrs. John Feicht to take the place of the old residence recently razed on the location. F. H. Grove has started construction on the last two houses of a group of five being erected on Cross st. This brings the number of new houses here so far this season to 10.

Theatre Attractions

"Edison, The Man", with Spencer Tracy portraying the great inventor from early manhood to his last years and crowning achievements, is the State theater's feature tonight and Tuesday.

The film, through Spencer Tracy's magnificent performance and the splendid direction of Clarence Brown, achieves a dramatic brilliancy and sincerity that makes it an enduring tribute to America's best-known genius.

It is the story of a man who lived and made his name revered for ages to come—portrayed by a star whose reputation has mounted on his characterizations of real men. It is a story of faith, love and conflict—Edison's faith in an idea; the love which existed between the man "who had a dream" and the woman who kept that dream from fading; the conflict of scientists and financiers against one lone man of vision—a "rags to riches" success story that will thrill every American.

Others in the cast, whose individually fine performances would be more striking except for the perfection of Tracy's, include Rita Johnson, Lynne Overman, Henry Travers, Charles Coburn, Gene Lockhart and Felix Bressart.

SALEM POLO CLUB OPENS SEASON THURSDAY

SALEM RIDERS FACE CANFIELD IN FIRST GAME

Polo Team Launches 20-Game Schedule On Memorial Day

Swinging into a 20-game schedule, the Salem Polo club will open its 1940 season Thursday, meeting the Canfield Polo club in a Memorial day game at its new field on the County Line rd.

The Canfield club, composed of former members of the Akron Bar K Cowboys, is a new entry in the Penn-Ohio Polo league this year. The Cowboys, winner of the league championship for two years in a row, accepted an offer to use the Canfield Fairgrounds as their home field this season after playing all their games on the road for three years.

The Salem club's new field, located within several hundred feet of the intersection of the County Line rd. with the Goshen rd., is only a short distance from its old field at the Coy farm on the Ellisworth rd.

Two fields at the Coy farm are under contract to the club but the one lacks suitable turf, while the other, used by the club for the past two years, will be left idle this year while new grass is being grown for next season.

Since the old field is now being groomed for next year and the adjoining field is unsuitable for games, the club decided to move to a new location for this season.

The club, however, will continue to maintain its stables at the Coy farm.

Persons familiar with the location of the old field may reach the new field by going to the first cross-road north of the Coy farm and turning left.

The Memorial day game is the first of 11 the Salem club will play at home on Sundays and holidays. Nine games are scheduled away from home.

Plan Cleveland Games

Tentative games have been booked with a Cleveland team for July 4 and Aug. 4, but the sites for these games have not been determined as yet. One of the games will probably be played here, while the other will be in Cleveland.

The majority of the Salem club's games are with Penn-Ohio league teams. New Castle and Cleveland are the only non-league clubs on the schedule.

The Penn-Ohio league with which the Salem club has been associated for two years has been sliced from six to five teams this year by the withdrawal of Pittsburgh Roslyn Farms. New Castle was invited to fill the vacancy, but declined because its players felt they lacked enough experience to make a good showing in the league.

In addition to Salem, teams in the Penn-Ohio circuit this year are Alliance, Canfield, Zellenople and Pittsburgh North Hills.

The Salem club's schedule follows:

Thursday, May 30 — Canfield (here).

Sunday, June 2 — Canfield (there).

Sunday, June 9 — New Castle (here).

Sunday, June 16 — Zellenople (here).

Sunday, June 23 — Alliance (here).

Sunday, July 7 — Alliance (there).

Sunday, July 14 — Zellenople (there).

Sunday, Aug. 4 — Cleveland (tentative).

Cozad Pigeon Wins Stiff Race From Indianapolis

C. W. Cozad's "Alapeeka Jr.," a two-year-old, flew to victory in the Salem Racing Pigeon club's 300-mile race from Indianapolis Saturday.

"Sister," from the loft of Art Rohrer of Columbiana, was second, while "Old Jim," owned by Otis Brian of Salem, was third.

The Indianapolis race proved to be the hardest test of the old bird series due to a strong southeast wind which held the birds to a speed of about 36 miles an hour.

The birds were liberated at 7 a. m. Saturday and the winner was clocked at 3:05 p. m. after flying the distance in eight hours and five minutes.

Members of the Salem club will ship birds to Chattanooga, Tenn., Wednesday to compete in a national race flown from that city Saturday. Lots from the eastern part of the United States will be represented.

Results of Saturday's race follow:

Owner	Bird	Speed
Cozad	"Alapeeka Jr."	1052.12
Rohrer	"Sister," Columbi-	1035.84
Brian	"Old Jim," Salem	1021.04
Tilley	Pee Wee II, Salem	1016.36
Lehman	Virgil, Columbi-	1007.42

SOFTBALL LOOP TO OPEN SEASON

Change Site for Opening Games In City's Two Leagues

A change in the site of today's opening games in the city's two softball leagues was announced today by J. M. Kelley.

Opening games in the Church league will be played at the Reilly stadium field. The Methodists will meet the Presbyterians at 5:30 and the Emmanuel Lutherans will face the Trinity Lutherans in the Church league's openers.

The two leagues will continue to play at Bohrs' and Reilly fields until the Centennial park diamonds are available, Kelley said.

OHIO ATHLETES TRY TO FINISH SPORTS EVENTS

Baseball Championship Remains To Be Decided Today

COLUMBUS, May 27.—The baseball end of Ohio's annual four-day high school spring athletic carnival was up for decision today, but the champions had been named in track, tennis and golf.

The baseball competition, halted by Friday's downpour, found Columbus North and Greenfield meeting today for the Class A crown surrendered by Canton McKinley, and Milford and Powhatan Point battling for the Class B title relinquished by Pemberville.

The tennis matches, also washed out Friday, were completed Sunday with Marshall Chambers, 17-year-old Cincinnati Walnut Hills senior, successfully defending his singles laurels, and Joe Pickering and Bob Cantwell of Youngstown Rayen taking the doubles by beating Bill Friel and Ed Doan of Portsmouth, 6-3, 6-4.

Don Shock of Dayton took over the golf crown with a 154-stroke total. Toledo DeVilbiss annexed the team crown with 674 strokes.

East Tech Repeats

Cleveland East Tech's track team won the Class A title with 51 points for the second straight year, outstripping Columbus North which scored 22½.

Xenia's Ohio Soldiers and Sailors Orphans' Home team won the Class B track-field championship with 38½ points. Oak Harbor taking second with 16. Upper Arlington, defending Class B title holder, scored only one point.

Three records were set in the track-field events. Bob Shaw of Ft. Ross heaved the shot 53 feet 4¼ inches. Tarver Perkins of Lorain Clearview ran a 4:32.1 mile. and Stuart Wood of Terrace Park chalked up a 9.9 mark in the 100-yard dash for the new records.

Bulldogs Defeat Printz Club, 10-9

Coming from behind with a four-run spurt in the ninth, Tyson's Bulldogs nipped the Printz Club softball team, 10 to 9, at the Biss field Sunday.

The Printz Club led until the ninth on the strength of two runs in the first inning and five in the second.

The Bulldogs will face an Alliance team at 6 p. m. Tuesday at Alliance.

President Sounds Warning Against Trojan Horse Treachery

isolated and, therefore, secure against the dangers from which no other land is free."

The President's address was largely a review of the expanded defense program and its effect on industry, labor and consumers. He spoke at a desk in the "diplomatic cloak room" on the basement floor of the White House, surrounded by a few invited friends.

Immediately afterward he left on an overnight yachting cruise down the Potomac. He was accompanied by Secretary Hopkins, who has been active in plans to step up industrial production for defense purposes.

The president reiterated the administration's promise to advance RFC money to private industry to help expand factories and personnel under the preparedness program.

"We are calling on men now engaged in private industry to help us in carrying out this program," he said, "and you will hear more of this in the next few days."

"Private industry will have the responsibility of providing the best, speediest and most efficient mass production of which it is capable."

Mr. Roosevelt declared, however, that "there is nothing in our present emergency" to justify making the workers of our nation toil for longer hours than now limited by statute. As more orders come in tens of thousands of people who are now unemployed insurance system.

Similarly, he continued, there is no reason to lower wages or break down the old age pension and unemployment insurance system.

The President called for protection of consumers against higher living costs and asserted that "no new group of millionaires (should) come into being in this nation as a result of the struggles abroad."

He opened his talk with an appeal to aid the Red Cross war relief fund.

Good Excuse

LIMA, May 27.—Sponsors of Lima's clean up-paint up week have an alibi for the failure of a demonstration in which 25 brushmen were to attempt to paint a house in 30 minutes. Less than a fourth of the painters showed up for the demonstration—the rest were busy on rush jobs prompted by the campaign.
